Conditions of Sale

1. REJECTION OF BIDS. Any bid which is not commensurate with the value of the article offered, or which is merely a nominal or fractional advance, may be rejected by the auctioneer if in his judgment such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.
2. THE BUYER. The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and if any dispute arises between two or more bidders, the auctioneer shall either decide the same or put up for re-sale the lot so in dispute.
3. IDENTIFICATION AND DEPOSIT BY BUYER. The name of the buyer of each lot shall be given immediately on the sale thereof, and when so required, each buyer shall sign a card giving the lot number, amount for which sold, and his or her name and address. ¶ A deposit at the actual time of the sale shall be made of all or such part of the purchase prices as may be required. ¶ If the two foregoing conditions are not complied with, the lot or lots so purchased may at the option of the auctioneer be put up again and re-sold.
4. RISK AFTER PURCHASE. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter the property is at the purchaser's risk, and neither the consignor nor the Association is responsible for the loss of, or any damage to any article by theft, fire, breakage, however occasioned, or any other cause whatsoever.
5. DELIVERY OF PURCHASES. Delivery of any purchases will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.
6. RECEIPTED BILLS. Goods will only be delivered on presentation of a receipted bill. A receipted bill presented by any person will be recognized and honored as an order by the buyer, directing the delivery to the bearer of the goods described thereon. If a receipted bill is lost before delivery of the property has been taken, the buyer should immediately notify the Association of such loss.
7. STORAGE IN DEFAULT OF PROMPT PAYMENT AND CALLING FOR GOODS. Articles not paid for in full and not called for by the purchaser or agent by noon of the day following that of the sale may be turned over by the Association to some carter to be carried to and stored in some warehouse until the time of the delivery therefrom to the purchaser, and the cost of such cartage and storage and any other charges will be charged against the purchaser and the risk of loss or damage occasioned by such removal or storage will be upon the purchaser. ¶ In any instance where the purchase bill has not been paid in full by noon of the day following that of the sale, the Association and the auctioneer reserve the right, any other stipulation in these conditions of sale notwithstanding, in respect to any or all lots included in the purchase bill, at its or his option, either to cancel the sale thereof or to re-sell the same at public or private sale without further notice for the account of the buyer and to hold the buyer responsible for any deficiency and all losses and expenses sustained in so doing.
8. SHIPPING. Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, but the Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

9. GUARANTY. The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly and endeavors therein and also at the actual time of the sale to point out any error, defect or imperfection, but guaranty is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness, authenticity or condition of any lot and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing or imperfection not noted or pointed out. Every lot is sold "as is" and without recourse. ¶ Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, and the Association will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued and in its judgment may thereafter sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby will become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without foundation.
10. RECORDS. The records of the auctioneer and the Association are in all cases to be considered final and the highest bid shall in all cases be accepted by both buyer and seller as the value against which all claims for losses or damage shall lie.
11. BUYING ON ORDER. Buying or bidding by the Association for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph, or telephone, if conditions permit, will be faithfully attended to without charge of commission. Any purchases so made will be subject to the foregoing conditions of sale, except that, in the event of a purchase of a lot of one or more books by or for a purchaser who has not through himself or his agent been present at the exhibition or sale, the Association will permit such lot to be returned within ten days from the date of sale, and the purchase money will be refunded, if the lot differs from its catalogue description. ¶ Orders for execution by the Association should be given with such clearness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the title, and bids should be stated to be so much for the lot, and when the lot consists of one or more volumes of books or objects of art, the bid for volume or piece should also be stated. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Association, a deposit must be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

These conditions of sale cannot be altered except by the auctioneer or by an officer of the Association

FOREWORD

THE late Meyer Goodfriend, dealer in precious stones, of New York and Paris, was widely known for his interest in French art. His firm had a business office in Paris and he spent much of his time there, sometimes making two or three trips to Paris during the year. He attended every Salon from 1892 until the time of his death, with the exception only of two, studying also critical art for his own pleasure in the museums of Europe. Himself a bachelor, he gave much of his fortune and leisure to the encouragement of men like Cachoud, Lebourg and Pavil, knowing them intimately, helping them, buying their pictures, and in every way showing in a practical fashion his belief in the value of their efforts. Much of this kindly philanthropy was secret; he came only once prominently before the public, in the exhibition organized by him of the paintings of F. C. Cachoud for the benefit of Les Amis des Artistes Association, a function held under the auspices of the National Allied Relief Committee in 1917, and to which he contributed every fine example that he owned. These important pictures will be hung as a group for the last time in the present sale.

During his visit in 1917 the society of Les Amis des Artistes was organized in Paris by prominent Frenchmen and Americans to relieve the distress of the artists who on account of the World War no longer had a market for their efforts. President Poincaré was made the Honorary President and Mr. Goodfriend was appointed a representative of the association in the United States. The thought occurred to him that an exhibition of French paintings in this country at that time might prove a good way of getting funds for the society; he therefore brought over about fifty of the best examples of Cachoud's "moonlights." The exhibition was given under the auspices of the National Allied Relief Society and obtained widespread notice and practically made known, for the first time in this country, the great merit of this distinguished painter. Mr. Goodfriend assumed all the expenses of the exhibition which netted a most substantial sum for the society in Paris. Subsequently he was presented with the silver medal of the society, with a resolution of thanks.

François Charles Cachoud, "titular painter of night effects" as he was called by Thiébault Sisson of the Temps, and whose works form the nucleus of the collection, was born at Chambéry [Savoie], in 1866. He studied under Delaunay and later under Gustave Moreau, entering the Salon in 1892. His attention was monopolized from his early days by the study of moonlight, a research he pursued on the shores of the lakes Bourget, Lamartine and Aiguebelette, his native countryside. He became recognized in Paris as a painter of night and in successive Salons and three expositions at the Georges Petit Galleries gave evidences of increasing mastery over his medium. We need only refer to such canvases as the Eclaircie dans la Nuit de Lune [No. 82], Quand les Feuilles Tombent [No. 89], and Neige de Lune [No. 80], which represent his later and more mature work, to appreciate the success with which he has continued the tradition of Corot and Cazin. In an eloquent preface to the war exhibition, Cachoud wrote: "I strive to make the night beloved, I wish to make a confidant of it, a friend, and to cause to be sought in it rest from feverish and anxious days. Is that not a happy task?—How avoid consecrating one's life to it?"

Albert Lebourg is of different mettle,—a product of the pure impressionism of Monet and Pissarro with his careful scintillating canvases, splashed with quick notes of light—recalling somewhat the more restrained work of Theodore Robinson.

M. Elie Pavil, who is represented by numerous canvases, is known as "the painter of Paris." The boulevards, the Bois, Montmartre, the Seine, and other spots of the great French city, are the sources of his inspiration. He has depicted with rare fidelity and with firm but delicate touch almost every phase of the sunshine of Paris outdoor life.

The important pictures of the collection also include an extremely fine Italian landscape by Corot, one of the most finished of his earlier period; three or four Sisleys; the Pissarro pastel portrait of Mademoiselle Murer; two large dramatic compositions by Isabey; a Lhermitte pastel; Algerian canvases by Dinet; and Jongkind and Boudin marine paintings. The whole constitutes an interesting collection representative of the taste and individuality of its late owner.

On the top of a shallow rise is perched a group of thatched cottages and barns, their roofs covered with snow, surrounded by a ring of bare shivering trees, the nearest of which partly veils with its straggling green branches the full moon. The ground is carpeted with snow, brilliant in the moonlight, and patterned in the near foreground with a lattice of shadows.

The old gray walls and pointed round towers of a château are heaped up at the left on the rugged hill, the roofs pointing into a heavily clouded evening sky; up the path towards the entrance gate, a string of horses is being driven by attendant soldiers. On the grass in the foreground, within the ramparts, is a group of eight cavaliers dressed in brightly colored costumes, the three central figures being the protagonists and the umpire of a duel.

LES NOYERS, EFFET DE SOLEIL

COUCHANT: PREMIERS JOURS D'OCTOBRE

At the right, at the edge of a kitchen garden, stands a group of walnut trees, their thick green leafage dotted with points of autumn color; beyond them, the boundary of the field, a rough hedge enclosed by a low fence, with red-roofed cottages and trees behind. A man and a woman are at work in the left foreground. The sky is streaked with the rainbow hues of a rainy sunset.
